Course Accommodation

(1) Where courses cannot be accommodated at a Tfc venue or the course purchaser's, room hire will be charged at cost.

(2) It is the course purchaser's responsibility to ensure that course accommodation on their premises (or on premises arranged by them) is adequate for the group size and type of training requested. Training for Care will make every effort to work with the course purchaser to ensure that requirements are communicated clearly and agreed, and will be as flexible as is compatible with delivering the training effectively. However, should the accommodation not permit effective training, the trainer will not deliver the course (and will provide the specific reasons in writing why it has not been possible) and Training for Care will charge the course purchaser the fee agreed for the course.

Health and Safety

Where the trainer considers that there is risk of harm to themselves or to the course participants, for reasons of behaviour or environment, they will terminate the course immediately and provide a written explanation for consideration by the course purchaser and Training for Care. Under such circumstances, the fee for the course will be a matter for discussion between the purchaser and Training for Care.
